No more school?

Yesterday the Head Teacher told all the pupils at Crossroad School, 'I have some good news for you. You won't go to school in future. You'll stay at home to learn. From Monday to Friday you will have lessons by computer.'

Tim and Mary were happy because they hate getting up early in the morning. 'We won't have to get up early any more! We will be able to get up at 11 o'clock in the morning,' Mary said. 'We'll be able to do our lessons in bed!' said her brother.

The Head Teacher continued: 'You need to buy a laptop, a mobile phone, some headphones and a webcam,' he said. 'At 7 o'clock your teachers will call you. Then you will turn on your computers and your webcam. Your teachers will be able to see you through the webcam.'

The next week the lessons started. Tim stayed in bed for his lessons. His teacher couldn't see that he was in bed through the webcam. Mary put chocolate behind her laptop and ate it during her lessons. The teacher couldn't see the chocolate through the webcam. It was great for a few days.
